THE EXPOSITION BEAUTIFUL
SAN DIEGO
1916

Military Drill

Sailors' Drill

Leaders of Parades on the Isthmus

Plaza de Panama

Botanical Building.

SAN DIEGO POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL.
Architectural design taken from the period of the Tudors

San Diego has the most metropolitan, thoroughly equipped school system on the Pacific Coast—if not in the entire country. The system embraces 11 splendid school buildings, valued (including the lands) at $1,358,700. This does not include the San Diego State Normal, which is itself valued at upward of $300,000.

San Diego High School—the Roman Coliseum

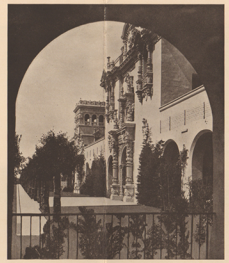
Patio Science and Arts Building

A Glimpse of the Buildings Surrounding the Plaza

THE EXPOSITION BEAUTIFUL
SAN DIEGO
1916

The approach to the West Gate of San Diego's Panama-California Exposition, with the beautiful California Building in the background. Across the Panama Cabrillo, here shown, throng the many thousands of visitors who come to enjoy the beauties of San Diego's incomparable Exposition.

Magnificent Seven Counties Hall at San Diego Exposition.
One of the Don't-Miss Places of the Exposition Beautiful.

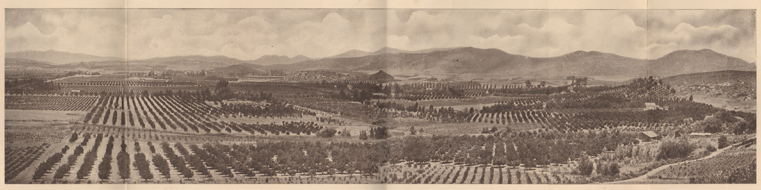


Front Entrance Foreign Arts Building

The State Flower

The Exposition Flower

HARBOR AND CITY OF SAN DIEGO



Where Fruits and Flowers Bloom in the Beautiful El Cajon Valley, San Diego County, fifteen miles east of San Diego

San Diego Bay has an area of twenty-two square miles; is the first Pacific American Port of Call north of the Panama Canal; is one of the ten great natural harbors of the world and is absolutely free from storms at all seasons of the year. San Diego, in July, 1916, had a metropolitan population of 109,195, and is the greatest all-year-round natural playground of America.

Escondido Valley, the Sun-kissed Vale, thirty-four miles north of San Diego